Scholarship of Teaching and Learning for OSU Faculty – Spring 2019

OSU Faculty wishing to enhance their teaching are invited to participate in this six-week workshop facilitated by ITLE. Structured similarly to an interdisciplinary hybrid-style course, participants can expect to work both independently and as part of a cohort in order to investigate:

- Strategies for creating effective lessons
- Approaches that promote student engagement
- Mechanisms for increasing student motivation
- Influences of educational theory and practice
- Components of effective instructional design
- Techniques that encourage students' active participation
- Meaningful approaches to assessment

OSU ASSISTANT PROFESSOR, 2016

I believe one of the most valuable aspects to this course was the connections I have made with other educators within my own college and around the university. Sometimes it is easy to get lost in my own little academic world and not realize there are things being done in other subjects and areas that I can transfer to my own.
